ABOUT

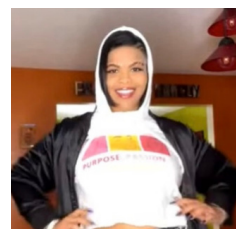

We are so happy to be back for another phenomenal year of healing, motivation and encouragement. Last year's summit was a great success with speakers and performers uniting to uplift and empower the community. The goal of the summit is to help build awareness and education about health and wellness topics to help keep people healthy and thriving, especially during these challenging times. We will feature community health experts and leaders across various genres, uniting to transform behaviors and actions to positively impact physical, mental and emotional well-being. We are committed to creating changes, one movement at a time to encourage positive mindset and quality outcomes.
